THE conspiracy has for motto and motive, "Anything to beat Bate." A few of the sky blues have the candor to say that they would vote for Hawkins rather than Bate.

THE yellow fever seems to be slightly on the wane at Matamoros and Brownsville. It is well enough to be on the alert in the South, but so far there has been no cause for serious alarm. A few cases in former times was not thought much of at New Orleans, but the country has been more sensitive since 1873. Forewarned is forearmed. It is not likely that Southern cities will be caught napping by Bronze John again in many years. The season is well advanced, it has been phenomenally cool and healthy, no malarious or other fevers have prevailed in any locality, and there is every reason to believe that we will get through without danger or alarm.

HON. H. D. Money, of Winona, Miss., is in the city and will leave tonight. Mr. Money was recently re-nominated for Congress in his District, almost without opposition. The people manifest their intelligence by retaining the services of a man who has made a national reputation, and at the same time been one of the most hard working and useful members in Congress. By profession he is an editor, and perhaps the press is a little partial to him on that account. He is serving his fourth term in Congress, and will be re-elected without serious opposition. His record is unassailable, and a high meed of praise has been extorted from his most bitter political enemies. The continuance of such men, though not always easily found, in Congress, will be creditable to the South and well for the whole country.

THE death of Senator Ben Hill, of Georgia, announced in our telegraph columns yesterday afternoon, casts a shadow of sadness over the whole country. There is something terrible beyond the ordinary sight and idea of death, when a great man, in the prime of physical and intellectual powers, is stricken down by an assassin, or some disease equally unexpected and relentless. The public heart is almost equally touched in either case, and we are again taught the great lesson that human sympathy is not bounded by political or sectional lines. Mr. Hill's suffering was, perhaps, greater than President Garfield's. Yet he was able to sit up and commune with friends, and prepare for the great inevitable change almost to the last, and left behind the testimony that he was ready and resigned. Expressions of sympathy come from every State in the Union, and none more tender and touching than those from his late associates in the United States Senate. In his last days he enjoyed the full consolations of religious hope, the assurance of tenderest sympathy and the attention of devoted kindred and friends.

COLONEL Pat Donan, one of the ablest and boldest journalists of the times, is conspicuously mentioned as a suitable man to represent Dakota Territory in Congress. Western communities generally select men of strong will power and decisive points of character to represent them in local and national legislation. Donan is a dashing, aggressive sort of a man, honest and fearless. He has a national reputation as a logical and brilliant writer. He is personally acquainted with the leading men of both political parties, and is familiar with the live issues of the day. We know very little of Dakota politics down this way—they have politics in the sense understood in the old States. We read two ably edited daily papers published in Fargo, and conclude from their general tone that the main political issues of the Territory are so mixed up in the big wheat and corn crops, founding of new towns, building railroads, providing for new settlers and developing the country that the time honored resolutions of '98 are not generally committed to memory. Even Colonel Donan himself seems to be a little off as to his early catechism. We hope that Colonel Edwards, of the Argus, Governor Ordway and Delegate Pettigrew and others more or less interested, will excuse this reference to the political state and chances of their Territory. Having known Colonel Pat Donan before they did, and ever since, we can venture to suggest that they can hardly select a finer looking representative, or one who would be more useful in Congress.

VOL. XXXIV.

MEMPHIS, TENNESSEE: THURSDAY EVENING, AUGUST 17, 1882.

NO 145.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS.

PARIS, August 17.—Gen. Auguste Alexandre Ducrot, a well known French General, is dead.

ALEXANDRIA, August 17.—It is believed that the young Italian naval officer, who was reported missing on the 15th inst., absconded with the intention of giving Arabi Pasha assistance.

The troopship Euphrates, with the second battalion of Manchester Regals and a battery of the Royal Artillery, and the transport Capella, with the Duke of Teck, have arrived here.

ALEXANDRIA, August 17.—General Wolsley has decided that the British advance shall be made from Aboukir. The troops will attack the Aboukir forts Sunday. The Khedive to day visited General Wolsley and remained some hours.

It is reported that negotiations are proceeding for the surrender at Mekes of 2000 Bedouins now with Arabi Pasha.

Another report states that General Wolsley will make the attack on Sunday morning, possibly, in two columns along the route of the last reconnaissance and another by way of Lake Aboukir, taking Arabi at the point where his right rest on the Mahomedieh canal.

LONDON, August 17.—The Bank of England has increased the rate of interest from 3 to 4 per cent.

Private telegrams received in London say that the troubles in Corea have culminated in a general insurrection and that the King and Queen have been assassinated. The Japanese Legation was attacked by the natives belonging to the Anti-Foreign party. Japanese men of war have been dispatched to the Seoul river.

In the House of Commons this afternoon the Speaker read a letter from Judge Lawson announcing the commitment of Gray. Gladstone stated that precedents in cases similar to that of Gray show that the appointment of a committee is the proper course at the present period of the session.

CONSTANTINOPLE, August 17.—Dufferin, the British Ambassador, has been instructed not to press the Porte for a reply concerning a military convention.

PARIS, August 17.—Serious disturbances have occurred at Mont Secour mines. The mob destroyed the church doors with dynamite, but the police prevented it from attacking the priest's house.

HAVANA, August 17.—Rumors that the Spanish government would exact from Cuba money to meet the expenses of the Egyptian expedition, is semi-officially denied. Spain, on the contrary, has authorized Cuba to draw on the Spanish treasury for one million dollars.

NEW YORK, August 17.—The loss by the Madison street fire last night is about $110,000. The principal sufferers are George B. Eddy, machinery; Emil Steffen, lithographer; Robt & Cole, cardboard manufacturers, and P. Warren, furniture, building damaged $15,000.

THE Jesuits of Canada. QUEBEC, August 17.—The Jesuits of Quebec are again agitating for the restoration to them of all their property confiscated during the reign of Henry IV. The restoration is demanded as an act of justice, and a list of the properties referred to containing some which are now of great value to the promoters of the agitators. They suggest that some outlying territory to the North be given them as recompense.

THE Bankers' Association. SARATOGA, August 17.—At the meeting of the Bankers' Association this morning, Hewey, of Mobile, Ala., gave a brief account of the crop prospects in the Southern States, which are good. The planters of Alabama are getting rid of their incumber debt, the mineral wealth of the State is great, and only needs capital to develop it. The improvement of the rivers is also doing much for the State. W. H. Perkins, of Mississippi, read a paper on the industrial growth of Mississippi and the cotton States.

MURDER AND STRIKE. CHICAGO, August 17.—Eugene Doherly, an ex-conviet at Joliet, shot and killed Nicholas Jones, a waiter in a Halsted street restaurant, this morning, during a quarrel over payment for a meal.

This morning 150 hod carriers and bricklayers at Pullman went on a strike for $2 a day. Their previous wages was $1.75. They have other grievances, including lost time, incorrect time keeping and the necessity of paying car fare to Chicago. Both sides are stubborn.

Steamship News.

A SUMMER SCENE

In Front of the Treasury Department, Which Furnished Fun For the Crowd and Food For the Gossips.

Special to Courier-Journal.

WASHINGTON, August 15.—The star of to-night: Hon. Kenneth Raynor, Solicitor of the Treasury, on the sidewalk in front of the Treasury Department, in his coat sleeves, with a pen in his hand, gesticulating wildly to a well dressed and apparently respectable lady seated in a carriage, with a crowd of idle and curious spectators taking in all that occurred. "How dare you have the impudence to come to the Treasury with an attempt to blackmail me, you miserable creature!" shouted the irate solicitor, shaking his fist at the fair occupant of the carriage, and adding that he had a good mind to have her arrested. Her reply was given in a lower tone of voice and not thoroughly understood by the spectators, who were rapidly increasing in numbers. She was heard to say that she would publish him in the newspapers, at the same time directing the driver of the carriage to take her to a certain newspaper office. Solicitor Raynor says that the scene to day grew out of the unceasing and persistent endeavors of the woman to have him compromise a certain important case now before him. She was working in the interest of the parties in the case, and she was persistent in her entreaties and threats that he lost patience and was compelled to talk to her rather harshly.

Colonel Pat Donan Named for Congress.

Fargo, Dec. 13.
A Grand Forks correspondent of the St. Paul Globe reviews the prominent candidates for delegate to Congress, naming Pettigrew, Hand, Raymond, Bismarck, Walsh and La Moure. He very truthfully states that "most of them know more about driving bulls than watching and protecting the interests of a territory containing as much intelligence as Dakota," and commends La Moure because "he can hold his own with any one in a game of poker." In the latter part of his pithy communication he says: "Colonel Pat Donan, of Fargo, has been spoken of, and could gather considerable strength if he desired the nomination, but the chances are that he does not desire the honor."

Colonel Donan is the first man who has been named as a candidate who combines the requisite ability coupled with inflexible honor and integrity. He is an eloquent speaker, a thinker, well versed in politics, thoroughly acquainted with the best spirit of Western enterprise, a polished gentleman, and a man qualified both by nature and education for such a position. If the convention proves wise enough to nominate a man of the character and ability of Colonel Donan, it will do more to raise territorial politics from the slough in which they are floundering than any other one act. The Bee hopes that the convention will nominate him and that he will accept.

Medical Illiberality.

Courier-Journal.
The following furnishes an explanation why Dr. Barnes (the now retired Surgeon General) could not appoint homoeopathic physicians:
Some five or six months ago, Dr. W. Van Velsigh, a lecturer in Jefferson Medical College of Philadelphia, became the subject of medical treatment. Among his medical advisors, we are told, were some of the most prominent members of the college faculty. Five months of treatment and examination not only failed utterly to benefit the patient, but even to unite his medical friends upon a diagnosis.

He then proposed a trip to Europe, but was dissuaded from the step by his physicians lest he should die before reaching there. Finally he went to Cape May and the influences of the sea breeze, together with that of continued alaphathic treatment, failed to check the progress of his malady. Becoming desperate at last, and being unable to leave his room, he began a course of homoeopathic treatment, prescribed by Dr. E. H. Phillips, of Cape May. The results were prompt and decided. Improvement at once set in and the patient progressed with satisfactory rapidity toward recovery.

At this writing he is able to take short drives, and expects soon to make a trip to the mountains.
But the most interesting part of his case is yet to be told. The college faculty on learning of the facts, demanded that he should discontinue his employment of homoeopathy and dismiss his homoeopathic physician. This demand the doctor very emphatically declined to comply with, and the delegation who conveyed the faculty's message were obliged to return with their missive unaccomplished. In a very brief time a second message followed, embodying a request to the doctor to resign his position in the college, which was instantly acquiesced in. It must not be supposed from these facts that Dr. Van Velsigh has become an adherent of homoeopathy. He has declared his determination, however, as soon as his health permits, to investigate its principles, to observe carefully its results in hospital and private practice. The faculty wants him to surrender his life rather than be cured by a homoeopathic physician with homoeopathic medicine. (Hahnemann Monthly, No. 8, August.)

N. B. This happened in the last quarter of the nineteenth century. O tempora, o mores.
